Party OKs Astorian

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Members of the Madison County Democratic Party's central committee met Monday night to endorse candidates for the April primary.

Lt. Col. Robert Astorian of the Granite City police received the endorsement for sheriff over Hartford Police Chief Robert Churchich. It took three ballots to pick Astorian over Churchich.

"That's not unusual," said committee chairman Mac Warfield. "There were four candidates for sheriff on the first ballot, three on the second and the final two on the last. When you have that many candidates, that's not unusual."

Astorian, 47, has served with Granite City police for 23 years. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, the FBI National Academy and the Dektor Counter Intelligence Agency. Churchich said he plans to pursue his bid to become sheriff.

"I thank the people that voted for me, but I don't understand the process," Churchich said. "No one on the central (Democratic) committee interviewed me about the job."

"That's like hiring someone for a job without taking an application," Churchich said.

Sheriff Emil Toffant, who is retiring after this term, has already endorsed Churchich in the April primary. Toffant won two terms as sheriff, but never received the party's endorsement.

"In the long run, I think Sheriff Toffant's endorsement will mean more," Churchich said.

OTHER ENDORSEMENTS for local political office included Harry Briggs Jr. for regional school superintendent; Evelyn Bowles for county clerk; Michael Henkhaus for county treasurer.

U.S. Rep. Mel Price, D-East St. Louis, received the committee's endorsement in the 21st Congressional District.

Jim McPike received the committee's endorsement in the state's 112th district; Mike Slape received endorsement in the 110th district and Gary Hannig in the 98th district.

The committee also endorsed the state democratic ticket, Adlai Stevenson is the committee's choice for governor, George Sangmeister for lieutenant governor, Neil Hartigan for state attorney general James Donnewald as state treasurer.

GOP presenting unified front Gaffner to challenge Price

COLLINSVILLE — Madison County Republicans presented a unified front at a reception Tuesday at the Hilton.

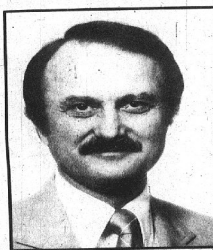

"We need to be the unified party," declared state Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Collinsville.

"Whoever gets the party's nod in the primary should be supported by the entire party if Republicans are to be put into office, he said.

Republican policies are needed to bring the area out of its Democratic legacy of high unemployment, he said. Communities such as East St. Louis, he said, need revitalization that Republican thinking can provide.

"What a perfect example of Democratic policies," Stephens said

Robert Gaffner

GRANITE CITY — Robert Gaffner, R-Greenview, disclosed to the Press-Record/Journal Wednesday that he will officially announce his candidacy for the 21st Congressional District seat this Saturday.

Gaffner is head of public relations for the St. Louis Community College District and has long been active in 21st Congressional District politics. He ran three times against the incumbent, U.S. Rep. Mel Price, D-East St. Louis, and each time has garnered more votes. In the 1984 election, he won 42 percent of the vote and believes he can improve on the figure in 1988.

Concerning when Madison County Republicans will make endorsements, Gaffner said the GOP is expected to make them in January.

Council blocks building permits

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Building permits have been temporarily halted at a location being considered by Aldi Foods.

But the action may not stop businesses from getting permits, said Mark Goldenberg, city attorney.

IF ALDI SEEKS permits and is refused them, the store can seek court action which makes the city comply with its ordinance, he said.

Leonard Purvis, Aldi's general manager, Wright City, Mo., said Wednesday the council action will have no effect on his company's plans at this point.

"We made an offer on the property based on certain contingencies," he said. "One of those was getting storm sewer drainage for the area — we're still working on that."

THE COMPANY WON'T be ready to seek any permits until the store is completed and that will take time, Purvis said.

Two representatives of residents living in Lueders Park Estates asked the City Council on Tuesday night to delay construction at the property along the Fehling Road curve.

They asked that the project not be started until traffic, drainage and other services are studied.

TOM HEWLETT, one of the spokesmen, said the residents are not opposed to Aldi's or any other business. They are concerned about the impact of the business on the surrounding residential areas, he said.

"We don't want to see a business increase an already bad situation," Hewlett said.

There is talk not only of a grocery store but also of a service station locating there, Hewlett said.

HE SAID the grocery store's or service station's plans alone might not have an effect on the drainage, but together they could, despite studies by city engineers.

"We should be looking at the development of this property from a planned point of view, not a piecemeal one," Hewlett said.

"I don't think we need to be jingling a tin cup out there for anyone knocking on our door. We're (the city's) not that bad off (financially)."

ANOTHER CITIZEN representative, Joe Ribbing, told aldermen the city of Creve Coeur, Mo., recently passed a land-use bill dealing with traffic flow, drainage and other studies of potential commercial areas.

"Perhaps a plan like this could work in our city," Ribbing said.

Alderman Brett Hanke, 3rd Ward, said.

Machinists end strike at Precoat

GRANITE CITY — A three-week-old strike at Precoat Metals ended Saturday morning, when union members accepted a four-year contract.

Larry Swaney, president of the metal coating company, said the settlement involved concessions from both union and company officials. The production staff is represented by Machinists Lodge 41.

Normal production resumed at the plant at 11 p.m. Sunday, Swaney said.

In an earlier interview, Swaney said workers were offered a wage increase in excess of 12 percent over the life of the contract. He would not say whether the wage increase proposal rose or declined in the most recent negotiations.

"I think it's best not to discuss these types of details in the newspaper," he said. "All good contracts are made up of compromise from both sides."

Charlie Damm, business representative for the Machinists, could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Realtors issue warning about easy buying plan

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Warning: Lack of knowledge about real estate transactions could lead to financial disaster.

This message was recently released by the Board of Realtors because of their concern about television programming aimed at prospective real estate investors. Such investors should know all sides of the issue, not just one.

At risk could be first-time realty investors, said Carl Hoffman, Board of Realtors vice president.

"Techniques they teach might work in California or some other state, but they don't work in Granite City," Hoffman said. "It's not the bed of roses people think. If it were, I'd be doing it."

"I sure wouldn't get up from the dinner table on Sunday to show a house if I could make the kind of money they're talking about."

REALTORS TELL prospective investors to substantiate for themselves information discussed on the "Millionaire Maker" TV series Sunday evenings at 7 on KDLN-TV Channel 30.

The show is paid for by the Beckley Group Inc. of Fairfield, Iowa, Hoffman said. Programs feature real estate investors who have enjoyed considerable success using methods described in Beckley periodicals and training materials.

The group has two packages available for viewer consumption. A basic package includes 15 hours of audio, cassettes and literature designed to give beginners information to make real estate investments.

THE BASIC PACKAGE sells for $295, plus $9 postage and handling.

Investors have access to Beckley Group consultants for an additional $50, said a company representative.

The company's "professional package" costs $495 and includes pre-recorded local seminars.

Two books come with each order: No Downpayment Formulas and 125 Irresistible Purchase Offers. If customers order by credit card, they

Tree donated to Madison

MORE THAN MANPOWER is needed by Madison street department personnel to load a huge pine tree onto a trailer Wednesday morning. The 25-year-old tree, donated to the city by Sheriff and Mrs. Emil Toffant, was later moved to the street department building, across from the city hall on 3rd Street, where it will be decorated and displayed as the official Christmas tree for the city.

Venice parents show regard for teachers

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Staff writer

VENICE — A poster contest, a play presented by 8th grade students, Thanksgiving dinner with parents and teacher-parent conferences highlighted American Education Week at the Venice public schools in November.

Activities encompassed all grade levels through high school, including Teacher Appreciation Day. "We had a great turnout," said Grattana Ponce, a Venice teacher and member of the American Education Week Committee.

VHS STUDENTS and their parents also took part in an open house and classroom visitation session during the evening hours, the first time in several years the activity has been offered at night.

One Venice parent described her own appreciation for the teaching staff in a letter to school administrators.

"On behalf of all parents who feel as I do, we want the teachers of our children to know that we indeed appreciate you for the knowledge and skill you have communicated to our children. We appreciate you for the instruction and the insight you have given them."

"NOT ONLY DO we appreciate you, but we stand ready to help you in any way possible if there are any problems that you can't handle."

"When the parents and teachers are working together, Venice Grade and High schools are certain to be among the American Public Schools 'Excellence,'" the parent wrote.

The latter phrase was the national, state and local theme of the 1985 observance.

DURING ASSEMBLIES at the Venice Grade School, 8th graders performed a play, "Uncle Sam and the Mystery of the Golden Door," under the direction of Grettena Ponce and Rogers Mefford.

Cast members included Christine Wiley, narrator; Charles Love, Uncle Sam; Douglas Johnson, George Washington; Eddie Gregory, Theodore Roosevelt; Deverick Miller, Abraham Lincoln.

Todd Ware, John Muir; Renee Jackson, Miss Liberty; Yolanda Scruggs, Sheldonda Williams and Tisha Glasper, students; and Ellyn Treadway, Edith Gregory and Karen Warren, trees.

WINNING ENTRIES in a school poster contest, stressing the meaning of American Education Week, were introduced and presented award.

Winners and runners-up in three age levels of competition were:

Primary grades — Jeremy McKinney, first, and Keith Russell, second; intermediate — Kenya Williams, first, and Joshua McIntosh, second; and junior high level — Jermaine Ross, first, and Charles Chambers, second.

IN A BRIEF CEREMONY, candidates were inducted into the Beta Club, a grade school honors group. The inductees were Janice Dampier, April Harris, Marcus Gardner, Charles Miller, Benet Washpun, Angela Gleason and Christopher Hocking.

The newcomers were welcomed by current Beta Club members Vince Berry, Sharon Burns, Eddie Gregory, Charles Love, Rashanda McGhee, Yolanda Scruggs, Ellyn Treadway, Todd Ware, John Wiley, Christina Wiley, Sheldonda Williams and Jeannie Wiley.

WELCOMING REMARKS to parents and other guests attending a special grade school assembly were voiced by Venice Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers and Seth Kirkpatrick, VGS principal.

Faculty members in charge of the 1985 Education Week activities were Ruth Marie Welch, Robert Dubnick, Rogers Mefford, Linda Cottrell, Mariann Hankla and Grattana Ponce.

Governor cites GC job gains

Illinois Gov. James Thompson touted expansion of Madison and St. Clair county plants last week in St. Louis.

The governor gave his administration credit for helping four firms stay, reopen or expand in the area, while speaking at a "Town Hall Forum" sponsored by the Regional Commerce and Growth Association. Specifically, he cited:

Nesco Steel Barrel Co., Granite City, where Thompson said a $150,000 loan from the state permitted an employee buy-out, retaining 42 jobs and creating 10 new ones.

A.O. Smith Corp., Granite City, where "technical assistance" from the state helped the plant retol and reopen last year to make auto engine cradles, employing 200. Belleville Shoe Co., which was considering relocating in a southern state. The firm decided to stay and expand after state and local officials put together a financing and incentive package. The firm, now employing 200, with 50 to be added, makes combat boots.

Gateway Systems, New Athens, where the state "helped that firm win a $1 million contract with the U.S. Postal Service," creating five new jobs.

Thompson claimed over 1,000 new employees in Southwestern Illinois have been taught new skills through state-funded programs.

He cited the Small Business Development Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and Lewis and Clark Community College as another part of the state's economic development efforts.

Thompson said completion of Interstate 255 in 1989 will "make Metro-East more attractive to businesses and will ease the congestion of other area highways."

He also said a feasibility study by the Illinois Department of Transportation on using Scott Air Force Base near Belleville for commercial aircraft cargo operations will "boost development efforts in southwestern Illinois."

VAN PASSENGER INJURED

Myrtle Roberts, 64, of 713 26th St. sustained a minor injury when a van in which she was a passenger collided Nov. 29 at 20th Street and Edwardsville Road with the auto of Susan A. Roberts of 5 Del Rio Drive. Eugene D. Roberts of the 26th Street address was operating the van, which stalled in traffic and was struck from the rear.

Trucker injured

A TRACTOR-TRAILER driven by Doris Marcusi, 27, of Urbana jumped the median, crashing through a chain-link fence, on Interstate 55-70 Tuesday morning and came to rest against a guard rail in an eastbound lane. Illinois State police said last control of the truck while traveling west toward Exchange Avenue. Marcusi was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in East St. Louis for treatment of her injuries, but the driver of a car hit in a westbound lane, Tori Goodbrake, 19, of Cottage Hills, was not hurt.

Traffic on the eastbound lanes was stopped for about one hour while police worked to clear the wreckage and also fuel that spilled onto the roadway.

IT WAS ALSO suggested by Alderman Michael Modrusic, 7th Ward, that Creve Coeur be contacted con-

THE BOOKS were written by Ed Beckley, a former California teacher who is said to have made millions of dollars from no-money-down realty investments.

"We've had nothing but positive response to this program," said Beckley Group representative Bob Sherman last week. "The program includes information on what Mr. (Ed) Beckley calls weasel clauses for contracts. You always want to leave yourself an out."

"There are no financial risks. The only thing at risk is your ego, or contact with other people, if you're shy."

The Better Business Bureau in Des Moines (near Fairfield) reports receiving inquiries on the Beckley group since January 1985.

"Their performance has been satisfactory to date," said Vic Wiesand, a Des Moines BBB volunteer. "There have been a few complaints but you never know if they've come from kooks or what."

The BBB suggests persons interested in using the Beckley Group formula consult with state attorney generals to see if the program conforms to state laws. Also, they should check to make sure they understand language involving time periods and conditions, cancellations or refunds on all documents.

"The Better Business Bureau suggests they consult with the local realty board or independent agents on the no-money-down concept," Wiesand said.

LOCALLY, the Board of Realtors warns these types of investments could lead to problems.

House of Christmas Mouse opens Dec. 7 in Caseyville

The yearly visit by the friendly mice will again take place in Caseyville the first two weekends of December, Dec. 7, 8, 14 and 15.

Members of the Caseyville Junior Woman's Club are putting the final touches to the House of the Christmas Mouse in its new location, the Caseyville Municipal Building, 10 W. Morris St.

The For Children Only Room is an area for children up to age 11, and admission is gained by crawling through a hole in "Swiss cheese." Once inside, they may shop for their parents' relatives and friends. Gifts again this year will be no more than 50 cents each and will be wrapped free of charge by the mice.

While waiting for the young shoppers to finish their selections, parents may browse through the Sweet Shoppe.

Admission to the house is 25 cents per child, and grownups may enter free if accompanied by a child.

Pictures with Santa will again be offered at a nominal charge. Each child entering the house is given a mouse pin stating "I Toured the House of the Christmas Mouse" and will receive candy from Santa.

Proceeds are used for many charity contributions by the club, such as the library, Khoury League sponsorship and donations to the fire department and Lions Club.

Because the project has grown over the past years, with an average of 1,000 children touring the house in of East St. Louis. "It looks like Berlin after the war."

Though Democrats do little to help East St. Louis, Stephens said, the city remains a Democratic stronghold. That hold by the Democrats on the city is not likely to erode in the near future, said Charlie Lawrence, East St. Louis Republic precinct committeeman.

The party heard from other contenders, including Madison businessman Tom Voloski who seeks to be sheriff. Voloski was enthusiastically greeted by the audience.

Dr. Dale Hammond introduced himself to the audience as a hopeful for the post of regional superintendent of schools.

"I want one more shot," Robert Gaffner, R-Greenville, told the crowd of more than 75 Republicans. Gaffner has been defeated thrice by U.S. Rep. Price, D-East St. Louis, but gained more votes each time.

In the 1984 election, he gained 43 percent of the vote while spending approximately $5,000. "The people are going to stop voting in the past," he said. His improved name recognition due to past elections will make him his bid against Price strong.

Cooperation solves complex case

With Christmas on the way, many of us would like to be rich. But it is hard to achieve instant wealth, unless one happens to pick the right lottery ticket. Southern Illinois oil well securities probably aren't the answer. More than 300 persons invested $6.5 million in such securities and are sadder, wiser and poorer as a result. Whether or not suffering such a loss, each of us owes gratitude to those who unraveled the case.

Among the people deserving thanks are federal grand jurors who met in East St. Louis and indicted former Robinson, Ill., residents for securities fraud, mail fraud, wire fraud, conspiracy and sale of unregistered securities. Where the suspects are now is unknown, so their trial will have to wait. Fifteen multiple-count charges accuse William and Elenora Mason of fraudulently selling investments related to the now-bankrupt Mason Oil Company. From 1979 to 1981, persons in 20 states and several foreign countries poured money into their drilling projects.

The Masons are accused of selling shares in exploratory wells at a time when their debts to suppliers and other creditors exceeded $1 million and they lacked money to complete drilling already in progress.

They also are charged with misrepresenting the production capacity and life expectancy of various wells. They allegedly mingled investor funds with their own, and diverted money to buy themselves a fleet of luxury autos, including two Rolls Royces, plus a jet aircraft, a helicopter, a Palm Springs, Calif. estate and a Texas ranch.

The key to deciphering what had happened was the joint announcement in 1984 by Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar, St. Louis Chief Postal Inspector Lyle W. Wiggs, Springfield (Ill.) FBI Agent in Charge Joseph Ondrula and Frederick J. Hess, U.S. attorney for the Southern District of Illinois. They formed the Illinois Oil and Gas Fraud Task Force at that time, and it has kept busy.

The task force illustrates how necessary — and how effective — inter-agency cooperation can be in getting to the heart of complex schemes.

Two other investigations by the task force led to convictions and prison sentences, and the Mason case is its third. The continuing effort may prove helpful in foiling still other "get rich quick" scams that are simply too good to be true.

Cigarette tax 'booted' higher

"Don't tax you. Don't tax me. Tax that fellow behind the tree."

We fearlessly predict that the higher Illinois cigarette tax will be praised by (a) people who don't smoke and (b) educators, particularly those who don't smoke. The Dec. 1 increase of 8 cents a package, however, is unlikely to be popular with those who smoke a pack or two or three a day.

Aside from the basic question of whether the tax hike was a wise move by the governor and General Assembly, another major issue is rearing its ugly head — possible enforcement difficulty.

It will be recalled that Uncle Sam talked about cutting his 16-cent cigarette tax in half, but then decided against the reduction. Taxes, as always seems to be the case, are easier to enact than to cut or eliminate. Several states talked about nimbly adding 8 cents to their own cigarette taxation simultaneously with the assumed federal cutback. Illinois went so far as to claim on the added revenue for school funding, including a series of reform measures adopted this year.

State legislators don't like to link their names to tax boosts but they had painted themselves into a corner. So they raised the 12-cent state tax to a straphelic 20 cents and the plan quickly was signed into law. But that is not the end of the story.

Bootlegging apparently did not end with the 1930s repeal of a national prohibition on alcohol. Cigarettes can be and are bootlegged, to the tune of $266 million a year in lost state and federal taxes. The federal study that provided this estimate pegged the annual Illinois loss at $25 million — and this was before the state upped the ante.

Laurence Mulcrone, Illinois Department of Revenue deputy director in charge of criminal investigation, believes more than 100,000 cartons of cigarettes have been brought illegally into our state in truck and train shipments in the last three years, most of them crossing the Kentucky and Indiana borders. This is not only improper but puts an unfair share of the governmental revenue burden on the shoulders of those of us, certainly you and me, who live within the law.

With the added incentive now to bypass tax stamps entirely, or to create and affix fake stamps, bootleggers are likely to step up their nefarious activities. Fortunately, Mulcrone doesn't think this ought to be tolerated and has just added a dozen more inspectors.

"It just seemed like it was a waste of time going after the casual smuggler rather than the organized smuggler," he said in discussing the department's past approach. Now, with more at stake, smugglers of all kinds may find themselves in trouble. Potential penalties are five years behind prison bars and a $10,000 fine. And vehicles used for smuggling can be confiscated.

Why all the concern? Big money is involved. The tax increase is expected to produce $65 million in the fiscal year ending June 30 and $110 million in 1986-87 — unless. The "unless" relates to bootlegging, which the dictionary defines, literally, as "hiding objects in a boot."

Right-of-way confusing at GCHS crosswalks

To the Editor:
After reading the account in the Press-Record/Journal about the high school youth that was injured while jaywalking, I decided to write my first letter to the editor.

Police Chief Bill Harris seems to be inferring in that article that had the student not been jaywalking, this would not have happened.

I have become a very concerned parent about the problem of jaywalking and about the safety of the crosswalks.

My daughter and three friends were almost run down in the crosswalk just days after one on Madison Avenue near National was set up.

In talking to a high school administrator about this matter, the girls were told that the cars didn't have to stop; also, that if the kids would stay on campus, this wouldn't happen. He didn't seem to think about the danger of getting to and from school for those students who walk.

I realize a student should be aware of the danger and not walk directly in front of an oncoming car.

I think there are many drivers who believe erroneously, as the high school administrator seems to, that the car has the right-of-way at all times, and the pedestrian doesn't have any rights, even in a crosswalk. This danger has increased instead of decreased. A city policeman remained close by and ticketed offenders during the first week or two, but now he is not there.

My daughter and others have had several close calls recently.

I was traveling east on Madison Avenue and, when I came to the crosswalk, I stopped to let a pedestrian go across.

I was almost rear-ended by a car behind me and the pedestrian almost hit by a westbound car whose driver became angry and had the nerve to honk at the pedestrian and curse. The student was in the right (dead right)?

I have been talking with Mr. (Max) Redmond, the school superintendent, about this matter. After spending some time observing the situation, he agrees that it is very dangerous and something needs to be done about it.

This "crackdown on jaywalkers" that was mentioned has been knowledge been only against the teenagers and does not include adults.

I have seen adults jaywalk in front of an oncoming police car and nothing was done.

Let's not make this a vendetta against teens but help make a better situation for everyone.

Fair assessing, within budget; not a burden

To the Editor:

I feel I must reply to the editorial that appeared in the Granite City Press-Record on Nov. 21. I must take issue with the words and I quote: "poor decision," "expense to the taxpayer" and "ignored the board."

The Granite City Township budget was posted in the city clerk's office at City Hall on July 11 for all to see. It was reviewed by the Town Board of Trustees.

It was approved and passed by this same Board on Aug. 20. Prior to board approval, I had one, and only one, inquiry from a township trustee about pay raises for my staff.

I stated that by restructuring my office I was able to get the job done — and done with less people than in previous years. This allowed me to give raises to my knowledgeable and qualified personnel while at the same time decreasing the budget by $40. Since there were no other inquiries, I had no way of knowing there were any other reservations about my budget.

I have missed two township meetings since my appointment in May. One was while I was on vacation and I offered to drive back to Granite City — which was seven hours traveling time — to be present for the budget meeting. I was told this would not be necessary as there were no problems with my budget.

Another time I was not present because I was attending an Illinois Department of Revenue session on township multipliers, being held in Springfield on Nov. 6 and 7. I returned from this meeting to find quite an uproar concerning pay raises for my personnel.

I find this strange, since the Town Board of Trustees had this information since Nov. 1 and no one felt inclined to contact me.

All assessor's bills and payroll are submitted to the Office of the Supervisor for payment. The supervisor is the keeper of the books for the township.

His office prepares an agenda that is given to each trustee on the Friday before the meeting on the following Tuesday, so that questions may be asked and answers given.

This is a Township office and not a City office and I have no way of knowing when they are in negotiations with the city employees.

I have no responsibility for, and should not be held responsible for, what happens in city government. City raises have never been negotiated because of what happened in Township government, and vice versa.

We are two separate entities with two separate budgets and — as this has always been the criteria — it is acted upon accordingly.

The levy for the township has not been increased in the last two years. The township has lived within its budget, manages its own money, improves conditions, and rewards its personnel without increasing its tax levy. It, therefore, has not created an additional burden to the taxpayer.

I am proud to be an elected official of Granite City Township. I am very proud of my office and its personnel. When I ran for office, I promised the citizens that I would have a professional office, available to all who need our services.

I promised fair and equal assessments without political favoritism. I promised it then and I promise it now. In spite of all obstacles, this will be my goal.

Cold weather, snake feeding endanger pets

To the Editor:

A winter alert for pet owners is being issued. Once again, it is time to provide outside dogs with shelter in preparation for the cold weather ahead.

The law states sufficient shelter for dogs is a house, enclosed on three sides, with a floor and roof. It should be large enough for a dog to lie down in.

Straw makes a good bedding. Also, pets must be provided with fresh water daily, as water that stands for a long period of time will freeze up.

Also, we wish to alert persons placing ads in the newspaper on free kittens or cats and puppies to use caution in giving out these little animals, as there are known persons in the Metro area who are using baby cats and dogs to feed their large snakes.

This is a horrible and terrifying death for little pups and kittens and every precaution should be taken not to let these people obtain them.

Persons answering ads for free pups and kittens should be questioned at length.

Be suspicious of a man or woman wanting to take several pups or kittens; many are "needed" to feed a snake or snakes.

The APA urges any person having information concerning a snake owner using domestic animals for feed, to report this to the APA or to the Illinois Agriculture Department in Springfield.

Legal 'Vegas night' games sought

Don't call him "Big Jim." Call him "Diamond Jim." "Las Vegas night" fund-raisers for non-profit groups in Illinois will be legalized in 1986, if the governor has his way.

Present law, while allowing non-profit organizations to operate bingo games and raffles, bans "Las Vegas" or "casino night" endeavors by churches, veterans' groups and other not-for-profit organizations.

"MANY CHURCHES, parochial schools and charitable groups depend on income from these events to underwrite school tuition costs, community services and public assistance programs," Gov. Jim Thompson said.

"One high school in Chicago recently had to cancel a 'Las Vegas night' at the last minute because of the Illinois law. Without these fund-raisers, the school would lose $150,000 a year in operating revenue and probably need to raise tuition by $200 a student to make up the difference."

"Dollars from 'Las Vegas night' fund-raisers are used to meet such diverse needs as the education of our children and the improvement of the lives of citizens stricken by disease."

"We should begin to help, not continue to obstruct, these activities which provide sorely needed funds to achieve objectives that are truly worthy," he said.

THOMPSON SAID his proposed legislation would include charitable, educational, religious, fraternal and veterans' groups to those eligible for licensing by local government authorities. The same procedure is followed in regulating raffles. Also included in the bill will be restrictions against licensing felons with gambling convictions, a minimum age of 18 for "Las Vegas night" participants, rule-making powers for local governments, licensure of not-for-profit groups which have been in existence a minimum of five years, and enforcement of required bookkeeping on the expenses, receipts and net proceeds from gaming nights.

Those with felony convictions would be banned from participating in such events as managers.

IN ADDITION, groups would be required to establish a bank on the "casino night" premises for conversion of currency into script or chips for use in playing the games of chance. Cash use in actual games would not be allowed. Senate sponsors of the measure will be Judy Baar Topinka of Riverside and Walter Dubeck of Chicago. In the House, it will be sponsored by Minority Leader Lee Daniels of Elmhurst, Kathleen Wojcik of Schaumburg and Roger McAlliff of Chicago.

Christmas vacations announced for schools

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

Quad-City students attending public and parochial schools will have varying schedules for the Christmas and New Year's vacation this year.

Public schools in Venice and Granite City will dismiss at the end of full-day classes on Friday, Dec. 20, to begin the holiday vacation. All of their students are to report back on Thursday, Jan. 2, at the regular hours.

The Granite City school district and its faculty members this month are negotiating new contract terms, with a Dec. 31 deadline.

MADISON PUBLIC school pupils will begin their Christmas vacation at the end of classes on Monday, Dec. 23, and will return Jan. 2 for a regular schedule of classes. The Dec. 23 school day is one of those being made up due to the teacher strike this fall.

Businessman questioned in Granite City robbery

GRANITE CITY — A St. Louis businessman with financial problems is being questioned concerning a Nov. 21 armed robbery at Earl's Sporting Goods, 3675 Nameoki Road.

James Bernard Cahill, 54, of Richmond Heights, Mo., was arrested Dec. 2 and was charged with robbing an Overland dress shop.

HE WAS APPREHENDED by Overland police a short distance from the shop. Police said he was carrying a .38 caliber revolver he had brought back from Korea when he served in the armed forces.

On Tuesday, Cahill was additionally charged with robbing a University City firm and a Richmond Heights business.

Cahill was identified in a lineup at the Overland Police Department by an employee of Earl's, said Overland Detective Ray Papish.

SINCE TUESDAY, Cahill has been identified by other witnesses, linking him with as many as nine armed robberies, Papish alleged.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes people who owe money to a creditor fall behind in the monthly payments. This may happen because of illness or because the debtor loses his job. Often in this situation, the person who owes the money will offer a small sum per month in an effort to appease the creditor. The question frequently arises as to whether the creditor is obligated to accept this lesser monthly payment.

In a recent case, a man borrowed $10,000 from a bank on a three year note. The payments were approximately $330 per month, and the borrower paid regularly for the first few months. He then became sick, however, and was unable to work. By the time he recovered, he was three months behind in his payments. He contacted the lending institution and told them he would pay $50.00 per month until he got his finances in order.

The lender in this case told the debtor that the small monthly payment was unacceptable, and in fact refused to accept even the regular monthly amount. In this situation, the bank demanded the entire outstanding balance on the loan. The borrower contacted this office and inquired as to whether the bank had to accept the monthly payment he had offered. He was under the impression that a creditor cannot pursue collection efforts against a debtor as long as there is a good faith effort to pay and some amount is paid per month.

What most debtors do not realize is that many promissory notes contain an "acceleration clause." Upon reviewing the original documents signed by the borrower in this case, there was such a provision in the note. An "acceleration clause" provides that if the borrower falls behind in his payments, the lender can "accelerate" the note, and the entire outstanding balance immediately becomes due. The lender in our case was within his rights to demand the entire outstanding balance, which was more than $9,000.

What options are available to the debtor in this situation? There are only two ways he can stop collection efforts by the creditor. He can pay off the entire balance, which is usually impossible, or in some cases he can file bankruptcy. If neither of these alternatives appeals to him, he can wait to be sued for the entire balance and then have the judgment satisfied through regular collection procedures, such as a wage garnishment.

The proposed enterprise zone covers about 10 square miles and essentially follows the path of the Mississippi River from Alton to Hartford.

State approval will be sought to offer tax breaks and other incentives to attract new businesses and industries.

The special guests who enjoyed the meal with the children included Dr. Max Redmond, superintendent of Granite City School District 9; Harold E. Briggs, regional superintendent of schools; Jolene Travis-Terrell, a school board member; Judy Whitaker, 4th ward alderman; and Steve Balen, director of Special Education Region I.

Also guests were Stu Mills, supervisor of Region I; Maria Gallaher and Carol Reinking, Region I psychologists; Sonya Ohanesian, secretary for Region I; Carolyn Smoot, Parents for Special Education; Mr. and Mrs. Kynion, Tri-City Association for the Retarded

New ruling
'benches'
prep coaches

Coaching high school basketball is nothing like managing a baseball team.

"I think we all agree on that, yet a new rule this year is going to force high school coaches to behave like Connie Mack."

Mack, for those of you who are not versed in baseball history or are less than 70 years of age, was the longtime manager of the Philadelphia Athletics. (He was the last baseball manager to dress in street clothes, by the way. Looked much better than the pot bellies of today in their double-knits. But that's another story.)

Mack just sat in the corner of the dugout, serenely watching the game like one of the fans relaxing out in the summer sun. An occasional motion with his hand to make a signal or change the positioning of one of his fielders was about all the movement he made.

That can't be done in high school hoops. Yet, the new rule this year says coaches will not be allowed to leave the bench area, with a couple of exceptions, or they will be hit with a technical foul.

"A silly rule" is what Madison Coach Rodney Watson called it, and he's right. One of the first victims of the edict was Jimmy Cook, coach of the McKinley (St. Louis) Goldbugs. Cook wandered a little too far halfway through the first quarter Tuesday night in Madison and was nailed.

Darnell Marshall, however, missed both technical shots for the Trojans.

Watson stayed out of trouble all night, probably because his team was in control of the game from start to finish. Still, he doesn't like it.

"I've got to be able to coach my team," Watson said. "But it's a rule we're all going to have to live by, I guess."

Granite City Coach Don Detering echoed the same thoughts. He said in a gymnasium that holds the noise very well, coaches have to move around to be heard by their players.

There are exceptions to the rule. Coaches can go to the scorer's table to clarify a point, or they can go on the court because of an injury to a player, but only if the officials ask for them.

I guess if a kid falls down behind the play and breaks his leg, the coach will have to wait for an official to see it, go over, take a look, and advise for the coach to come to his aid.

There are good intentions behind the rule. Some coaches get in more exercise during a game than some players, following officials up and down the court with a running commentary on the ref's ability.

A technical or two on coaches like that will sit them down. But, as Watson said, coaches have to be able to coach. What does it hurt to have the coach walk out near the mid-court line and give some instructions to the players? These are high school kids, not the 1970 New York Knicks. They get excited during a game and need to be reminded of certain things.

Besides, coaches can be entertaining, except when they're unnecessarily badgering officials.

Remember last spring's NCAA championship game? Underdog Villanova over mighty Georgetown. A great game in its own right, but wasn't it a lot of fun watching Villanova Coach Rollie Massimino on the sidelines?

A pleasant, avuncular-looking man at the beginning of a game, Massimino goes through a bizarre metamorphosis in the succeeding two hours. His tie becomes loosened, his eyes get wild and his hair begins to look like no comb can ever put it back to like it was.

That wouldn't happen if he were forced to stay around his seat all night long. And it didn't take anything away from a thrilling game. In fact, it probably added a little bit to it.

While the NCAA might look down on coaches hurling furniture across the court, they still allow them to move around and get excited.

It would be nice if high school coaches were again allowed to do so.

Madison sweeps a doubleheader

Trojans' fast start
KOs McKinley, 71-59By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

MADISON — "It was a little wild out there towards the end, wasn't it?" said Rodney Watson.

The Madison basketball coach was a little, just a little, displeased with some sloppy play by the Trojans in the second half of their game with the McKinley (St. Louis) Goldbugs Tuesday night.

Fortunately for Watson, the first half was all Madison. So much so that a little sloppy play in the final 16 minutes wasn't enough to destroy the big first half, and the Trojans got their first win of the season, 71-59, over the Goldbugs.

The Trojans are 1-1 after dropping their opener, 66-60, in Pinckneyville Friday.

"We don't have a 20-point scorer," Watson said last week. "But the guys we do have are capable of scoring a lot on any given night."

Tuesday night, it was senior guard Anthony Valentine who scored a lot, getting 22 points and playing an excellent floor game.

"I was really pleased with Anthony tonight," Watson said. "He was our floor general all night."

The Trojans also got a good effort from forward Reggie Young, who, despite his 6-0 height, banged inside for 15 points and many key rebounds.

Playing in the second half of a doubleheader (the Madison girls beat McKinley's girls, 49-25, in the first game), the Trojans copied the over Lady GoldbugsBy DAVE WHALEY

MADISON — The 1983 Chicago White Sox built their division-winning season around the slogan "Winning Ugly." Madison's girls basketball team might adopt that saying with a few more games like their season opener.

In the first game of a girls/boys doubleheader at the Madison gym Tuesday night, the Trojanettes got the season off on the right foot with a 49-25 triumph over the McKinley (St. Louis) Goldbugs. The boys made it a sweep by beating McKinley in the nightcap, 69-59.

"Not bad for only two weeks of practice," said Madison Coach Carol Cole.

That was probably her way of saying, "It wasn't pretty, but it was a winner." The two teams combined for 34 field goals out of 129 attempts, an icy 26 percent. Because the Trojanettes rebounded much better than the Goldbugs, 49-27, Madison had more shots and, hence, more field goals.

Actually, Madison did shoot a little better than McKinley (31 percent to 21 percent).

The Trojanettes scored the first six points and led, 12-1, before the Goldbugs got their first, and only, field goal of the first quarter.

It was 16-3 after one and 26-7 at halftime. Madison held its big lead throughout the second half with a tight press that forced McKinley into 25 turnovers in the game.

(See TROJANETTES, Page 12)

MADISON'S Earl Walker (32) and McKinley's John Hamber battle for a loose ball in Tuesday's game. The Trojans won the game and evened their record at 1-1.

Lincoln outguns Red Devils

By KEN PERKINS
Staff writer

EAST ST. LOUIS — If the Venice basketball team was looking for a shootout, they came to the right place.

In fact, the way the Red Devils and the East St. Louis (Lincoln) Tigers went at it here Tuesday night, it made the showdown at the O.K. Corral look like a feather fight.

"We always expect a track meet when we play Venice, always," said Lincoln Coach Bennie Lewis. "But this time, things almost got a bit out of hand."

Lincoln handed the Red Devils their first loss of the 1985-86 season with a not-so-easy 61-54 victory amidst a loud capacity crowd in what they refer to here as the Tiger Den.

Thanks to superior size, the Tigers had little trouble controlling the boards and scoring points in the early going.

But that wasn't the problem for Clinton Harris' squad, which compensated for its lack of size by clogging up the middle and pushing the Tigers outside of the perimeter.

The problem for Venice, the same one that troubled the team last year and in the Lebanon victory last week, showed up and there was little Harris could do from his spot on the bench.

"Free throws," he said after the crowds filtered out of the gym. We missed six one-and-ones. We missed five one-shot fouls. That's about 17 points we just gave away."

To make a more official count, the Red Devils were 8-of-20 from the line, including two-of-eight under the four-minute mark.

Jesse Hall, the superb swingman who led Venice in scoring with 21 points, connected on three of seven free throws, while Ed Ware was two of five, Judious Kizeart two of four and Willie Hollis 0 for 2.

The irony of it all was that the Red Devils picked the wrong time to miss their freebies. While Venice missed the front end of one-and-ones in the first quarter, the Tigers danced up and around them to build a quick 16-6 lead and 20-10 by the end.

After the Red Devils climbed within two, thanks to domination of the middle quarters, Lincoln jumped ahead by five when Hall missed the front end of a one-and-one and Vincent Harris missed two.

"We shot bad against Lebanon, but this was horrendous," said Harris.

"I don't know if it was our concentration or what. But there's no doubt why we lost this game."

Venice won the battle of the second half. They just didn't win the war. Harris pushed his troops inside to clog the middle on defense and slowed the tempo on offense, hoping to force the Tigers to shoot from the outside.

James Harris, a 6-7 forward who led the Tigers with 20 points, and 6-6 mate Robbie Carter, who contributed 12, were unmerciful from the outside. But pushed outside of GRANITE CITY — Despite losses to graduation and injuries this season, the Granite City High School hockey team is not doing too badly.

The Warriors stand 3-3 after dropping their home opener to Francis Howell, 5-1, at the Wilson Park rink. The final score was a little misleading.

"We outshot them something like 33-25 but it seemed like we couldn't buy a goal," said Granite City Coach Garry Henson.

"We had three breakdowns on defense and they each led to goals. I was kind of disappointed because I thought it would be closer."

Granite City will find this season a tough act to follow after last year's team compiled a 24-5 record and placed second in the Mid-States Club Hockey Association championship.

Granite City competes as a club sports. The high school hockey team is subsidized by generous contributions from the Granite City Jaycees.

Last year was a sweet ride to the top and Henson knows it will be tough, but not impossible, to win a second North Division championship.

"Anything can happen," Henson said.

Graduation, however, skinned the Warriors clean. Granite City lost two complete front lines and 25 percent of its defensive corps.

The emphasis this year is on youth. The Warriors start one freshman, three sophomores and five juniors.

Granite City fell to 0-2 the next outing, dropping a 5-1 decision to Lindbergh before regrouping to win their next three.

The Warriors beat Webster Groves, 6-4; downed Oakville, 3-2; and bombarded McCluer, 12-1.

Hinters has been the Warriors' leading scorer with eight goals. He, however, has been slowed by a shoulder injury and will be lost for approximately two weeks. Injuries have also hit Jeff Fedora, who is on crutches.

Moore, who had to serve a four-game suspension after the Chaminade game, is back and helps lead the Granite City defense with Jeff Cooper.

The goaltending duties have been shared by senior Tom Schneke and junior Collins Harian.

Granite City will be in action Saturday when they play Bishop DuBourg at the Affton Ice Rink in St. Louis. Faceoff is 9:15 p.m.

The Warriors return home on Monday to host Hazelwood East at 8:30 p.m. at the Wilson Park Rink.

Throwin' Sparks

Warriors face West

Granite City will open its home schedule with a tough Southwestern Conference basketball game Saturday night when the Warriors battle with Belleville West.

Both teams are undefeated on the young season. Tipoff is 6:15 p.m. at Memorial Gymnasium for junior varsity action. The varsity game will follow.

The Warriors are coming off a hot-shooting weekend in Mt. Vernon where Granite City blitzed the field in the Turkey Classic, winning three games.

In those three victories, Granite City averaged 85.6 points a game.

All five of the Warrior starters scored in double figures for the tournament.

Leading Granite City were Joe Gray (17.3 ppg) and Chris Vierer (17 points). Tim Hogan averaged 15.6 ppg, Jaime Hogan 12.3 and Tom Taylor had a tournament scoring average of 12 points a game.

Belleville West (1-0) was a winner over Centralia. The Maroons were led by 6-7 center Sean French who scored a game-high 28 points. It was in the second half. Brain Casskill had 10 and Dan Boettcher nine points for West.

The Maroons, coached by Roger Mueller, finished at 10-15 last year.

Warrior girls are rebuilding

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor
GRANITE CITY — Like a master sculptor, John Hutchings hopes to rebuild the Granite City High School girls basketball team.

Hutchings, the Warriors' first-year coach, pulled out his hammer and chisel in mid-November and began working. His goal: To improve the Warriors and mold them into a competitive squad.

Last year was a long season. Hutchings and his team need little to remind them of what transpired last winter. Granite City went eight straight games before tasting victory for the first time. The Warriors finished at 3-19 in Gordon Gilbreath's final season.

Hutchings, the jayvee coach, hopes to wipe the slate clean and start from square one.

"We're anxious to play and I think the girls are enthusiastic about the season," he said.

The Warriors return six players with varsity experience and have four seniors who have played at least two years of varsity.

"Experience-wise, we are in pretty good shape," Hutchings said. "A lot of the time it's tough. We usually run a year behind (most schools) without a freshman program. Then we catch up when we have a whole bunch of seniors like we do this year."

Granite City will open its season Monday, Dec. 9, against Assumption. The game will be at Memorial Gymnasium. The junior varsity game starts at 6 p.m.

A veteran group will start the season for Hutchings. Three of the five starters held down positions a year ago.

Senior Loretta Cox (6-0) will anchor the Warriors at center. Senior Betsy Barrington and Maria Toenisketter will be in the front court.

The backcourt will feature senior Alicia Melton (13 points per game) and junior Karen Sykes.

Coming off the bench, Hutchings will use Lisa Wiser, Sheila Noel and Terri Selph as the primary substitutions.

"Beyond that, if anybody should happen to get into foul trouble, we don't have that much experience," the coach said.

However, the front line players are solid. They also will be sporting a new look.

"We are a little quicker and faster than we were last year," Hutchings said.

He said he won't totally revamp the Warriors' past strategy, but he does plan some changes.

"We are running a few more plays and giving some of the girls a little more freedom to move around," Hutchings said. "Hopefully, that will give others the opportunity to score."

Last year, scoring was a problem. The Warriors averaged just a little over 31 points a game.

Hutchings feels lack of conditioning was a factor last season.

"A lot of times other teams just run by us," he said. "We were able to stay with them for about a quarter or two and that was it."

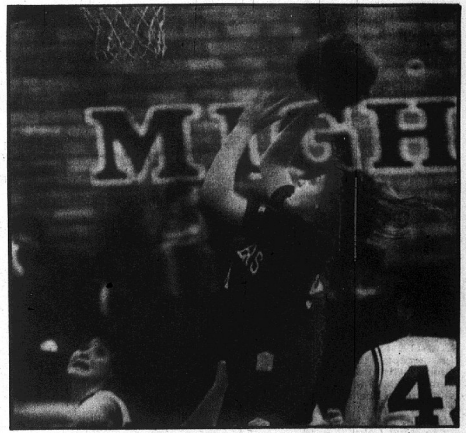

Conditioning was something stressed in practice. The coach is hoping it makes a difference.

"Since we don't have the size, we will have to be quick and execute well," he said. "For us, that will be the key. Our conditioning is a little better. The girls seem to be in good shape. Hopefully, we will be able to stay with some of the other teams where we couldn't in the past."

Granite City will be tested early in the season. December features four tough contests, including three Southwestern Conference games (against Belleville East, East St. Louis and Alton).

"After that first month, we should have a pretty good idea of things and what we need to do (to be successful)," Hutchings said.

For Hutchings and the Warriors, the reconstruction has started.

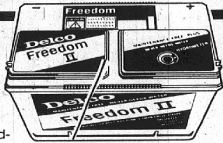

THE WARRIORS Loretta Cox goes in for a layup against Belleville West last year. Cox is of several seniors who will play for Granite City this year.

Trojans

efforts of their lady counterparts, jumping off to a big early lead.

Capitalizing on early McKinley turnovers and three buckets from Valentine, Madison sprinted to a 14-2 advantage after the opening eight minutes.

It was a tough quarter for Goldbug Coach Jimmy Cook, who not only saw his team fall behind, but was also nailed with a technical foul for violating a new high school rule prohibiting coaches from wandering too far away from the bench.

Although Darnell Marshall missed both ends of the technical, it didn't keep Cook's team from falling to 0-2 on the young season.

"We just played a real good ball team tonight," Cook said. "They really came out fast, maybe because it was their first home game. I've got some talent here. We've just got to keep improving."

One Goldbug who doesn't need much more improvement is senior forward Patrick Steptoe. Stepping into the gap created by the graduations of Monroe Douglass and Roland Gray, now both freshmen at St. Louis University, Steptoe pumped in 26 points, almost half of McKinley's offense.

"Patrick is new at his position," Cook said. "But he's obviously learning well."

One of the reasons for Madison's quick start in the first quarter, in fact, was that Steptoe was scoreless, going 0-for-3 from the field. But he had nine points in the second quarter and 11 more in the fourth. The game was out of reach by then, however.

Leading 33-15 at halftime, the Trojans got a little sloppy in the third quarter, and Watson called a timeout early in the period to settle things down.

"I wanted to make sure that intensity was still there," he said. "You can come out flat after you get a big lead. I wanted to remind them to take care of that ball."

With Steptoe and fellow forward John Hamber taking the ball inside on the smaller Trojans, the Goldbugs trimmed Madison's lead to 46-32 after three periods.

Hamber and Steptoe combined for 15 points in the third quarter and found themselves at the foul line 12 times in those eight minutes.

"We probably played a better floor game Friday," Watson said. "But this was a different type of ball club than Pinckneyville. It was a little more fast-paced tonight."

McKinley still had half a chance going into the fourth quarter, but a three-point play by Marshall gave the Trojans a 19-point lead, 55-36, with five minutes left to seal the win.

Steptoe added three late baskets to account for the final 12-point margin, which made the score appear closer than the game actually was.

"I can't say we're really clicking on all cylinders yet," Watson said. "But it's good to get that first win. Possibly, we can go on a roll now."

Despite a late start because of the teachers strike in Madison, the players seemed to be in excellent shape, running as well in the fourth quarter as they did in the first.

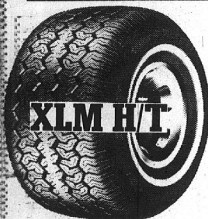

"I'm really pleased with the players there," Watson said. "We played both Anthony and Reggie for 30 minutes and they responded well. We like to keep our practices up-tempo, and that helps."

Next for Madison is the Belleville East Gamers tomorrow night at home. Gametime is 8 p.m.

Trojanettes

"Our presses were the key," Cole said.

Another key for the Trojanettes was forward Tammy Deal, who quarterbacked the offense and led the scoring with 13 points. Guards Alana Browley and Wanda Baker had eight apiece to give Madison all the offense it needed against the ice-cold Goldbugs.

Center Wanda Branch, though only scoring six points, was a force inside with her rebounding.

"We instruct our girls to shoot from the outside," Cole said. "But we can play inside also. Wanda has the ability to get under there and do those things for us."

Despite the less-than-sparkling performance, Cole said she was not worried.

"Obviously, we'll have to play better later," she said. "But I thought my starting five (Deal, Baker, Branch, Alana Browley and Elizabeth Kullum) played well while they were in there. I tried to give everybody a chance to play tonight."

Free throw shooting was another sore spot, with the Trojanettes making only 5 of 22 (23 percent). The Goldbugs connected on only one of six free throws.

Turnovers hurt GCC

By GARY KING
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — When Terry Collins accepted the head coaching position at Granite City Campus in September 1984, he stated his goal was to make the Stars "a competitive ballclub."

Although they lost on Tuesday night to Rend Lake Junior College, 90-80, the Stars showed all the signs of a bona fide competitor.

GCC entered the contest boasting a 3-1 mark, their best start since the program was initiated three years ago. On the other hand, Rend Lake was 2-2, with one of their losses coming at the hands of Meramec Community College, now 7-0. All the statistics pointed to a tight matchup, and that it was.

After allowing the Warriors to jump out to an early 6-0 lead, the two squads engaged in a see-saw battle that lasted throughout the first 19 minutes of the ballgame.

Although Rend Lake led from the outset, it was obvious that momentum was shifting to the Stars end of the court late in the first half. Behind the strong play of Dana Christiel, the Stars fought back from a 40-35 deficit.

With only nine seconds remaining in the first half, and Rend Lake leading 40-39, Christiel stole a Warrior pass, giving GCC its first opportunity of the game to take the lead. Christiel hit a short jumper to put the Stars up, 41-40, at the intermission.

In hopes of cooling off the Stars' red-hot shooters in the second half, Rend Lake Coach Mitch Haskins instructed his troops to slow down the tempo and be patient with their shots. Haskins' version of the Rolfe Massimino plan was successful, as the Warriors managed to slow down the speedy GCC attack.

Trailing 62-57 with just over ten minutes remaining, the Stars' Kirk Robinson brought the local squad roaring back as he scored five unanswered points which knotted the score at 62-62. Unfortunately for GCC, things began to get worse.

Although it appeared the Stars had recaptured the lead when forward Perry Jones tipped in an Al Johnson jumper, an offensive goaltending violation was called, thus giving the Warriors a two-point advantage with 8:28 left on the clock.

With his squad trailing 68-62, GCC's Jeff Gray attempted to rally his squad as he hit two consecutive long jumpers which drew the Stars to within two. However, the Stars were unable to get any closer, as Rend Lake reeled off six unanswered points.

Although GCC had several chances to narrow the gap late in the contest, they were unable to do so because of turnovers.

Although unhappy with the loss, Collins thought his squad turned in a good performance. He was also quick to point out that Rend Lake was a good, quality team.

"I thought that we played as good tonight as we have been playing all year," Collins said. "We did some positive things and some negative things. Rend Lake has a very good ballclub."

"The disappointing thing is that we didn't play as well as we could have. I thought we had a good chance to win this game."

Collins said he was pleased with the play of Christiel, who turned in an outstanding performance with 24 points, 6 rebounds and three steals.

"Christiel had a good game tonight," Collins said. "He scored some points and picked up some key rebounds. I was pleased with his performance."

Although Christiel led the Stars attack, several others contributed in a losing cause. Robinson finished second in the scoring race with 13 points, Gray and Johnson each had 12, while Jones and Reggie Mullins each scored seven points.

Haskins thought the changes his squad made in the second half were the difference in the contest.

"We went to a strictly man-to-man defense in the second half," he said. "I think that helped to iron out some of the creases that we had in the first half."

"We were also more patient with our shots. I told the guys to try and pass more until the shot was there. This was a big win for our team."

GCC is to face Washington University's junior varsity squad at home on Thursday. Action is set to begin at 3:30 p.m.

the zone, they couldn't connect. It helped the Red Devils get back into the game, and when Harris canned a 10-footer to kick off the fourth quarter, it sliced the Lincoln lead to two, 50-48.

"We made some adjustments in the second half because of their size," said Harris. "What can you do? They've got a 6-8, 6-7 and 6-7 on the front line. They were killing us."

"After we put them on the outside, we went four corners to slow down some of their outside shots, maybe get a couple steals and get right back in it."

Everything worked for Harris — but then came the free throws down the stretch.

"We're not a very good free throw shooting team," said Lewis. "But we made them when they counted."

Ware, who was silent in the first half, came back to score 10 second-half points, giving him 16 for the night. Sub Wilfred Wigfall scored six, Willie Hollis had five, while Harris and Kizeart had four apiece.

Other scorers for the Tigers were Carlos Fisher, who bagged eight, Chris Rodgers and Robert Sylvester, both with six, and Laphonso Ellis, who added five.

Charles Williams and Irvin Brown had two apiece.

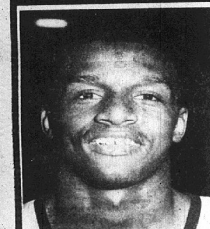

Despite the boo-boos from the line, Harris still had a lot of faith in his guys.

"We've got a chance to beat anybody," he said. "I always tell my guys to go out and play to win, don't matter who it is. We don't back down from anyone."

Thinking about it, Harris said, "We came here into the land of the giants and they went away knowing that they had to fight to get out of here."

The next fight for Venice is Friday at home, with Lovejoy the foe.

BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE GRANITE CITY CAMPUS ATHLETE of the WEEK

KIRT ROBINSON

Kirt Robinson was named the Athlete of the Week at the Granite City Campus for November 25 - December 1. The 6'2" basketball player was honored for his all-tournament performance in the Forest Park Thanksgiving Invitational.

In the Stars' opening round victory over Glen Oaks Community College of Michigan, Robinson pulled down 8 rebounds and contributed 19 points. In the triple overtime defeat in the tournament championship game, he posted double figures in rebounds and scoring once again.

Robinson, a freshman, is a 1985 graduate of Abilene H.S. in Texas.

Benefit dance for Phoenix Center

A benefit dinner dance will be given Saturday, Dec. 7, at the American Legion Hall, 1825 State St., to aid the Phoenix Crisis Center for abused women and children.

Sponsoring the fund-raising project is a local citizen band radio club, and reservations may be made by calling Sandy Hunter at 877-8721. Tickets will cost $6.50.

Dinner will be served from 8 to 9 p.m., followed by dance music by the Mountain Gravy group.

Luke 18:38 "And he cried, saying, Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me."

One of the outstanding miracles of the Bible - and it almost didn't happen! This man was blind and in a desperate situation. He had heard that Jesus could perform miracles, and when Jesus passed by, he cried out for Him for mercy. He needed a miracle.

Then a strange thing happened. The people around the blind man began to rebuke him. They told him to keep quiet about his need! Thank God he didn't take their advice. He cried out all the more, and this time Jesus stopped and asked him to come forward. The man responded and asked that he might receive his sight. Jesus simply said, "Thy faith hath saved thee." And he was healed.

When you have a need, don't hesitate to ask, to seek, or to knock. We have not because we ask not.

The Lord will have mercy on you. Today.

Trinity Methodist opens yule season

Trinity United Methodist Church began its Christmas season with the lighting of an Advent candle by Mrs. Charles Herman.

The Rev. Mark Slaatte, campus minister at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, delivered the sermon, "Ready or Not."

After the service, members of the congregation decorated the church with garlands, wreaths, the Nativity and a Christmas tree.

Later in the week, a Christmas polk sponsored by the Women's Society of Christian Service was enjoyed by church members. A silent auction of crafts and baked goods was held, with proceeds going to Project Help and the Phoenix Center.

The Rev. Mike Smith announced an Advent retreat at the Little Grassy park in Carbondale Dec. 6 and 7, a trip to hear Handel's Messiah at Powell Symphony Hall Dec. 8 and caroling to the church shut-ins Dec. 17.

7th-Day Adventists host musical program

A special concert of sacred Christmas music will be given Saturday, Dec. 21, at the Collinsville Seventh-day Adventist Church, 10 Chapel Court.

Guest soloist will be Robert Delafield, heard nationwide on the Quiet Hour radio program. He has toured with the Russian Symphony and has sung in major opera houses of the world, the host pastor, the Rev. Malcolm Hutchinson, said.

The concert will begin at 10:45 a.m. and sabbath school services are at 9:15 a.m. Immediately following the concert, all are invited to stay for lunch.

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scouts' project to aid needy families

Brownie and Girl Scouts in Neighborhood One will hold their annual Festival of Giving on Sunday, Dec. 8, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Madison Recreation Center.

All food baskets assembled there will be given to charitable organizations for Madison and Venice area residents. Each scout will hang a handmade ornament on a Christmas tree and will take part in an activity center.

The activity center will feature booths where they can frost and decorate cookies, play carnival games and visit with Santa Claus. At the conclusion, all will sing Christmas carols.

The Neighborhood Five festival is planned for Thursday, Dec. 12, at the Granite City Township Hall starting at 6:30 p.m.

Entertainment will be provided by the Eagles Kitchen Band as well as the troop members. All food baskets are to be donated to Project Help, Protestant Welfare and the Salvation Army.

The final local festival will be sponsored by Neighborhood Two at the Granite City Township Hall from 7 to 9 p.m. Friday, Dec. 20.

Scouts will open the event by presenting entertainment including songs, skits and comedy routines. During troop meetings, the scouts made ornaments that will be sent to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for use by the Meals on Wheels project.

YOUR FACE OR MINE? Melissa Bollinger, a junior in theater at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, transforms the face of Granite City Scott Eberhart, a junior in speech pathology, to that of a rather pathetic Neanderthal man in a theater makeup class. Bollinger used nose putty to reshape the brows, nose and area around the mouth prior to the application of regular theater makeup. After the two-hour job, Eberhart granted his satisfaction, both as to the quality of Bollinger's work and the knowledge that the transformation would not be permanent. (Photo by SIUE)

Arts festival 'very special'

BY TOMMYE WALTER

It was a chance for a hug, a dance, and a whole lot of good time for nearly 2,000 youngsters with handicapping conditions, their classmates, and volunteers who assisted in making this year's Very Special Arts Festival at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville a resounding success.

Even Diane Savoca, coordinator of the festival, was having a good time.

Dressed up as a whimsical clown, she was seen darting from one area to another. With as many activities as there were scheduled for the two-day event, that took some jumping around.

A presentation by students of the fourth grade at N.O. Nelson School in Edwardsville seemed to personify what the festival was all about, as they sang the words, "Just called to say 'I love you,'" over toy telephones to an enthusiastic audience.

However, there was nothing playful about the message they were conveying. That message was clear:

Love was everywhere...in the attitudes displayed by the foster grandmothers who accompanied youngsters from the Catholic Children's Home in Alton...in the eyes of the older students and senior citizens manning the numerous booths...and in the way the children responded to the activities going on around them.

The day began with each child decorating a bag in which he or she would carry treats home. The goodies were many.

A child could decorate a magnet for the family refrigerator, construct a God's Eye wall hanging, make a macaroni beaded necklace, put together a quilt square, decorate a cookie, paint his or her name in Egyptian hieroglyphics, construct a picture of paper mosaics, or participate in a dozen more activities.

Continuous entertainment was scheduled in Goshen Lounge, including performances by a jazz band, dance and movement, songs by students from area elementary schools, playlets, mimes and choir performances.

And that wasn't all. Upstairs in the conference area, there were numerous workshops and activities featuring multi-sensory learning; movement and signing; dance; the undersea world; Indian art; and expression through imitation, pantomime, and improvisation. Among these was a presentation on art history by students of Edwardsville High School.

Led by Dennis DeToye, the workshop featured students dressed up as famous artists of bygone eras. Festival visitors who ventured inside these doors were enlightened with stories about the artists and their famous works.

Keeping up with that many children was no easy task for the volunteers. They devised their own way of keeping their charges in hand, but even then, it took a sharp eye to keep up with the active youngsters.

"One woman had the children all wear the same color shirt," one volunteer was heard to say. "I wish I had thought of that," she added, as she tried to round up her charges at the end of the first day.

Tri-Cities Area homemakers graduate

Homemakers in the Quad-City area participated in a graduation ceremony at Granite City Campus Nov. 14.

Also that day, the Consumer and Homemaking Education Program (CHEP) honored volunteers who aided in delivering education to low-income homemakers in this area.

Program assistants planned and executed a celebration to give recognition to the homemakers and volunteers. Certificates and gifts were given along with words of encouragement from University of Illinois personnel and Keith Neuber, CHEP resource committee chairman and director of Parents Plus.

Alpha House; Ricky Schonger and Earnest Brown of the Mental Health Community Support Group; Peggy Lupardus, Kathy Weiss and Linda Karls-Olman of Children and Family Services; Linda Belovich of Madison County Housing Authority; Randy May from Central Baptist Family Services; Margie Baier of the SIUE School of Nursing; Teresa Roddy and CeCe Droege of St. Elizabeth Medical Center; Gloria Grenwaldmayes, Barbara Baley, Phyllis Whitehead and Janice Bryan of Madison County Mental Health Services; and Barbara Madison of Urban Life Daycare.

"The CHEP staff congratulates the homemakers who graduated after three years in the program and who also took their hats off to the volunteers who have been generous with their time," said Linda Crawl, CHEP extension adviser.

Madrigal dinner scheduled at SIUE

Area residents are invited to dine on traditional English food and listen to the melodies of a madrigal group at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Dec. 6 and 7.

The seventh annual Madrigal Dinner concert, sponsored by the University Center, will begin at 7 p.m. in Meridian Ballroom in the University Center. Dinner tickets are $12.50 per person, with a $1 discount for organizations and church groups, and a $2 discount for SIUE students.

Madrigals are songs performed by small groups of singers. Each song combines several independent voice parts, creating a melodically and rhythmically unique music. The music department at O'Fallon Township High School will provide the music.

The ballroom will be transformed into an 11th Century castle to complement the pageantry and tradition of the performance. During the program, singers, musicians, court jesters, and an array of "lords and ladies" will court the audience with selections from English, Flemish and Italian madrigal schools.

As the Renaissance-type meal progresses, performers will sing songs, especially adapted to the various stages of the dinner. The program will end with the audience and performers joining in singing traditional Christmas carols.

The menu will include the wassail bowl, cranberry nut salad, orange glazed chicken breast/sirloin of beef au jus, whipped rutabaga and potatoes, Canterbury glazed carrots, Lancashire bread, and flaming holiday pudding.

Tickets and additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Union Station ticket office at 1-692-2320.
